Select the National PTA Standard that best fits each statement by placing the number of the standard (1-6) next to the corresponding statement.

_____ Parents are invited to help address student's academic needs and determine the next steps to improve academic achievement at school meetings.

_____ School personnel make a conscience effort to contact parents via phone calls, text messages, notes, and home visits, if necessary to keep them informed.

_____ Parents sign-up to help tutor children who may have a need for additional services; the child does not have to be theirs.

_____ Efforts have been made to have a wider variety of business owners present at this year's annual career fair because it hasn't been well supported in the past.

_____ At the beginning of the school year, a special training is held to help all school personnel refine their approach to parents in an effort to create a segue for effective parent engagement and reassure parents that your doors are always open.

_____ Along with guidance from the teacher, parents are able to help reinforce what is being taught at school by helping their child with projects and schoolwork at home.
