Achievement Levels and Achievement Level Descriptors

With the implementation of the Georgia Milestones Assessment System, Georgia educators have developed four achievement levels to describe student mastery and command of the knowledge and skills outlined in Georgia's content standards. Most students have at least some knowledge of the content described in the content standards; however, achievement levels succinctly describe how much mastery a student has. Achievement levels give meaning and context to scale scores by describing the knowledge and skills students must demonstrate to achieve each level.

The four achievement levels on Georgia Milestones are Beginning Learner, Developing Learner, Proficient Learner, and Distinguished Learner. The general meaning of each of the four levels is provided below:

Beginning Learners do not yet demonstrate proficiency in the knowledge and skills necessary at this grade level/course of learning, as specified in Georgia's content standards. The students need substantial academic support to be prepared for the next grade level or course and to be on track for college and career readiness.

Developing Learners demonstrate partial proficiency in the knowledge and skills necessary at this grade level/course of learning, as specified in Georgia's content standards. The students need additional academic support to ensure success in the next grade level or course and to be on track for college and career readiness.

Proficient Learners demonstrate proficiency in the knowledge and skills necessary at this grade level/course of learning, as specified in Georgia's content standards. The students are prepared for the next grade level or course and are on track for college and career readiness.

Distinguished Learners demonstrate advanced proficiency in the knowledge and skills necessary at this grade level/course of learning, as specified in Georgia's content standards. The students are well prepared for the next grade level or course and are well prepared for college and career readiness.

More detailed and content-specific concepts and skills are provided for each grade, content area, and course in the Achievement Level Descriptors (ALDs). ALDs are narrative descriptions of the knowledge and skills expected at each of the four achievement levels and were developed for each grade level, content area, and course by committees of Georgia educators in March 2015 and July 2015. The ALDs are based on the state-adopted content standards.

ALDs show a progression of knowledge and skills for which students must demonstrate competency across the achievement levels. It is important to understand that a student should demonstrate mastery of the knowledge and skills within his/her achievement level as well as all content and skills in any achievement levels that precede his/her own, if any. For example, a Proficient Learner should also possess the knowledge and skills of a Developing Learner and a Beginning Learner.

Range		A student who achieves at the Beginning Learner level tends to read and comprehend informational texts and literature that do not meet the demands of grade level texts that would signal this student is on track for college and career readiness and requires substantial instructional support to improve reading skills.	A student who achieves at the Developing Learner level tends to read and comprehend informational texts and literature of low-to-moderate complexity and sometimes struggle to meet the demands of grade level texts that would signal this student is on track for college and career readiness and requires some instructional support to enhance reading skills.	A student who achieves at the Proficient Learner level reads and comprehends informational texts and literature of moderate-to-high complexity and is meeting the demands of grade level texts that signal this student is on track for college and career readiness.	A student who achieves at the Distinguished Learner level reads and comprehends informational texts and literature of high complexity and is meeting and often exceeding the demands of grade level texts that clearly signal this student is on track for college and career readiness.
	6.RL.1	Refers to the texts to support analyses of what texts say explicitly.	Identifies textual evidence to support analyses of what texts say explicitly.	Cites textual evidence to support analyses of what texts say explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the texts.	Cites strong and thorough textual evidence to support in-depth analyses of what texts say explicitly and elaborates on inferences drawn from the texts.
	6.RL.2	Identifies themes or central ideas of texts and provides simple summaries of texts.	Describes themes or central ideas of texts and provides basic summaries of texts distinct from personal opinions or judgments. 	6.RL.3	Identifies basic plots of particular stories or dramas and refers to characters.	Explains how plots of particular stories or dramas unfold and how main characters change.	Describes how plots of particular stories or dramas unfold in a series of episodes as well as how characters respond or change as plots move toward resolutions.	Analyzes how the responses and changes of complex characters contribute to the plots of stories and dramas as they move toward resolutions.
	6.RL.4	Uses apparent textual evidence (e.g., context clues, embedded definitions) to determine meanings of words and phrases as they are used in texts.	Uses apparent textual evidence (e.g., context clues, embedded definitions) to determine meanings, including basic figurative and connotative meanings, of words and phrases as they are used in texts and identifies the impact of word choices on meaning and tone.	Determines meanings, including figurative and connotative meanings, of words and phrases as they are used in texts and analyzes the impact of specific word choices on meaning and tone.	Determines meanings, including figurative and connotative meanings, of words and phrases as they are used in texts and analyzes and critiques the impact of specific word choices on meaning and tone (e.g., how the language evokes a sense of time and place, how it sets a formal or informal tone).
	6.RL.5	Identifies particular sentences, chapters, scenes, or stanzas that contribute to the overall structure of texts.	Describes how particular sentences, chapters, scenes, or stanzas contribute to the overall structure of texts.	Analyzes how particular sentences, chapters, scenes, or stanzas fit into the overall structure of texts and contribute to the development of themes, settings, or plots.	Analyzes how sophisticated sentences, chapters, scenes, or stanzas affect the overall structure of texts and contribute to the development of themes, settings, or plots.
	6.RL.6	Identifies the narrators' or speakers' points of view in texts.	Describes the narrators' or speakers' points of view in texts.	Explains how authors develop the narrators' or speakers' points of view in texts.	Analyzes how an author develops the narrators' or speakers' points of view in texts, citing evidence from the texts to support the analyses.
	6.RL.7	Compares the experience of reading stories, dramas, or poems to listening to or viewing audio, video, or live versions of the texts.	Compares and contrasts the experience of reading stories, dramas, or poems to listening to or viewing audio, video, or live versions of the texts. 	6.RL.9	Identifies overtly differing textual elements in different forms or genres with similar themes or topics.	Identifies differing textual elements in different forms or genres (e.g., stories and poems, historical novels and fantasy stories) with similar themes or topics.	Compares and contrasts texts in different forms or genres (e.g., stories and poems, historical novels and fantasy stories) in terms of their approaches to similar themes and topics.	Compares, contrasts, and analyzes texts in different forms or genres (e.g., stories and poems, historical novels and fantasy stories) in terms of their approaches to similar themes and topics.
	6.RI.1	Generally refers to the texts to support analyses of what texts say explicitly.	Identifies textual evidence to support analyses of what texts say explicitly.	Cites textual evidence to support analyses of what texts say explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the texts.	Cites strong and thorough textual evidence to support in-depth analyses of what texts say explicitly and elaborates on inferences drawn from the texts.
	6.RI.2	Identifies central ideas of texts and provides simple summaries of texts.	Describes central ideas of texts and provides basic summaries of texts distinct from personal opinions or judgments.	Determines central ideas of texts and how they are conveyed through particular details and provides summaries of texts distinct from personal opinions or judgments.	Analyzes central ideas of the texts and how they are conveyed through particular details and provides objective summaries of texts.
	6.RI.3	Identifies how key individuals, events, or ideas are introduced and illustrated in texts.	Explains how key individuals, events, or ideas are introduced, illustrated, and elaborated in texts.	Analyzes in detail how key individuals, events, or ideas are introduced, illustrated, and elaborated in texts (e.g., through examples or anecdotes).	Analyzes in detail how key individuals, events, or ideas are introduced, illustrated, and elaborated in texts (e.g., through examples or anecdotes) and uses evidence from texts to evaluate relationships among key individuals, events, or ideas.
	6.RI.4	Uses apparent textual evidence (e.g., context clues, embedded definitions) to determine meanings of words and phrases as they are used in texts. 	6.RI.5	Identifies particular sentences, paragraphs, chapters, or sections that contribute to the development of key ideas in texts.	Describes how particular sentences, paragraphs, chapters, or sections contribute to the structure of texts and the development of ideas.	Analyzes how particular sentences, paragraphs, chapters, or sections fit into the overall structure of texts and contribute to the development of ideas.	Evaluates why authors use particular sentences, paragraphs, chapters, or sections in the overall structure of texts and explains how they contribute to the development of ideas, citing evidence from texts as support.
	6.RI.6	Identifies authors' explicitly stated purposes in texts.	Identifies authors' points of view or purposes in texts and gives examples of how these views are conveyed.	Determines authors' points of view or purposes in texts and explains how the views are conveyed in the texts.	Analyzes authors' points of view and purposes in texts and provides strong textual evidence to show how the authors' purposes are conveyed in texts.
	6.RI.7	Identifies information presented in different media or formats (e.g., visually, quantitatively) as well as in words.	Integrates information presented in different media or formats (e.g., visually, quantitatively) as well as in words to show a general understanding of the topics or issues.	Integrates information presented in different media or formats (e.g., visually, quantitatively) as well as in words to develop coherent understandings of topics or issues.	Synthesizes information presented in different media or formats (e.g., visually, quantitatively) as well as in words to develop comprehensive understandings of topics or issues.
	6.RI.8	Identifies the argument and specific claims that are supported in texts.	Traces arguments and specific claims in texts, using reasoning and/or evidence from texts as support.	Traces and evaluates arguments and specific claims in texts, distinguishing claims that are supported by reasons and evidence from claims that are not.	Traces and evaluates arguments and specific claims in texts, explaining why the reasoning and/or evidence supports or does not support the claims.
	6.RI.9	Identifies explicit similarities and differences between one author's presentation of events with that of another author.	Compares and contrasts one author's presentation of important events with that of another author.	Compares and contrasts one author's presentation of events with that of another (e.g., a memoir by one person and a biography of the same person).	Compares and contrasts one author's presentation of events with that of another (e.g., a memoir by one person and a biography of that person) and provides strong evidence from the texts to illustrate the impact of the different presentations.

	6.W.1	Writes argumentative pieces to support claims with clear reasons and relevant evidence: the introduction and conclusion are either missing or lack clarity; demonstrates a basic understanding of the topic or text by supporting claims with some reasons and effective evidence; uses words, phrases, and clauses to clarify some relationships between claims and reasons; and attempts to establish a formal style.	Writes argumentative pieces to support claims with clear reasons and relevant evidence: claims are introduced and a concluding statement or section is included; creates an organization that generally establishes relationships among claims, reasons, and evidence; identifies reasons and evidence that support claims; uses words, phrases, and clauses to link sections of texts and to clarify relationships between claims and reasons; and establishes a formal style.	Writes argumentative pieces to support claims with clear reasons and relevant evidence: introduces claims and organizes the reasons and evidence clearly; supports claims with clear reasons and relevant evidence, using credible sources and demonstrating an understanding of the topics or texts; uses words, phrases, and clauses to clarify the relationships among claims and reasons; establishes and maintains a formal style; and provides concluding statements or sections that follow from the arguments presented.	Writes effective, compelling argumentative pieces to support claims with clear and effective reasons and highly relevant evidence: introduces strong and precise claims; creates an effective organization that strategically establishes clear, strong relationships among claims and reasons; supplies the most relevant and complete evidence for each claim from highly credible sources; effectively establishes and maintains a sophisticated formal style; uses highly effective words, phrases, and clauses to clarify the relationships among claims and reasons; and provides strong concluding statements or sections that follow from the arguments presented.
	6.W.2	Writes informative/explanatory pieces to examine topic and convey ideas, concepts, and information through the selection, organization, and analysis of content: the introduction and/or conclusion are either missing or lack clarity; the organization of ideas and concepts are unclear at times; includes little formatting to aid comprehension of the topic (e.g., headings, graphics);	Writes informative/explanatory pieces to examine a topic and convey ideas, concepts, and information through the selection, organization, and analysis of content: states topics; generally organizes ideas, concepts, and information to make broad connections and distinctions; includes some formatting (e.g., headings), graphics (e.g., charts, tables), and multimedia in an attempt to aid comprehension;	Writes informative/explanatory pieces to examine a topic and convey ideas, concepts, and information through the selection, organization, and analysis of relevant content: introduces a topic; organizes ideas, concepts, and information, using strategies such as definition, classification, comparison/contrast, and cause/effect; includes formatting (e.g., headings), graphics (e.g., charts, tables),	Writes highly effective, compelling informative/explanatory pieces to examine a topic and convey complex ideas, concepts, and information clearly and accurately through the effective selection, organization, and analysis of highly relevant content: clearly introduces topics; strategically organizes complex ideas, concepts, and information, using highly effective

With support from peers and adults, develops and strengthens writing as needed by using strategic planning, concise revising, accurate editing and rewriting, and trying new approaches.

	6.W.6	Attempts to use technology to produce writings and uses basic keyboarding skills to type writings that may take longer than one sitting.	Uses technology to produce and publish basic writings as well as to interact with others and uses sufficient keyboarding skills to type three pages.	Uses technology, including the Internet, to produce and publish writings as well as to interact and collaborate with others and demonstrates sufficient command of keyboarding skills to type a minimum of three pages in a single sitting.	With minimal guidance and support, uses technology, including the Internet, to produce and publish highly effective types of writings as well as to interact and collaborate with others and demonstrates strong keyboarding skills.
	6.W.7	Conducts basic research projects to answer simple questions and uses individual pieces of information from sources on topic.	Conducts short research projects to answer simple questions, drawing on several sources.	Conducts short research projects to answer questions, drawing on several sources and refocusing the inquiry when appropriate.	Conducts short research projects to answer complex questions, drawing on several high quality sources and refocusing the inquiry when appropriate.
	6.W.8	Gathers basic information from print and digital sources, quotes or paraphrases data and conclusions from a credible source, avoids plagiarism, and notes the source used to obtain information.	Gathers relevant information from multiple print and digital sources, assesses the credibility of sources, provides some quotes or paraphrases to support the data and conclusions of others, avoids plagiarism, and provides a list of sources used.	Gathers relevant information from multiple print and digital sources, assesses the credibility of each source, and quotes or paraphrases the data and conclusions of others while avoiding plagiarism and providing basic bibliographic information for sources.	Gathers relevant information from multiple authoritative print and digital sources efficiently, assesses the credibility of all sources, integrates highly effective quotes or paraphrases strong data and conclusions of others while avoiding plagiarism and providing standard bibliographic information for sources.
