When to Dispense EOPAs?

- To allow flexibility in scheduling EOPAs no official testing windows have been established.
 - Block Schedule:
 - End of first semester testing session
 - Spring testing session
 - Traditional Schedule:
 - Spring testing session
 - See EOPA State Guidance

Actual Scheduling

- For students still enrolled in the last designated course:
 - Test as close to the end of the course as possible
- For students who have completed all the designated courses during 1st semester (block scheduling):
 - Students can be tested at end of 1st semester or anytime during second semester
- Several testing agencies have specific testing windows (ASE, MBAResearch, etc.)

Designated Time Slots to Test

- During (Examples):
 - Last designated course time slot
 - Availability of designated proctors
 - Designated planning period of instructors serving as proctors
 - First block/period (and/or second, third, etc.)
 - During other course blocks/periods that don't interfere with high stakes testing
- Taking into consideration:
 - Lab availability during scheduled testing window
 - The length of exam
 - Some testing agencies allow multiple testing sessions for exams over 60 minutes
 - Any special accommodations that will need to be provided for students (extra time, secure environment for student/reader)

Special Accommodations

- IEP: Point of Reference
- Direct link between classroom and assessment accommodations
- IEP Team should review available EOPAs to determine most appropriate exam option
- Some testing agencies allow a number of accommodations
