EQUITY
Key Messages from the Georgia Department of Education

Top-Line Message: The Georgia Department of Education is focused on ensuring every student has an equitable opportunity to be successful in life. Inclusive principal leadership promotes equity and is essential to keeping students first. Inclusive principals create strong school cultures and distribute leadership across staff to serve all learners and ensure all students feel safe, supported, and valued in school.

Georgia has committed to participate in a multi-state collaborative with the Council of Chief State School Officers (CCSSO) Advancing Inclusive Principal Leadership.

What is Inclusive Leadership?
Inclusive education is a schoolwide culture and practice of valuing each student as a learner across general education classrooms, rather than a particular program or place. Inclusion provides students with disabilities equitable access and opportunity in the general education curriculum and ensures that each student receives the educational resources and rigor they need at the right moment in their education. In inclusive schools, educators’ roles are restructured for shared accountability and responsibility. Learners who need differentiated support and additional intervention receive it. And school leaders use schedules, teacher teams, and data to ensure the academic progress and success of each student.

Who shares the message: District and school leaders set the vision and goals of the district and are the primary public messengers of this work. The Superintendent’s voice and viewpoint should always be considered when crafting communications on behalf of the district.

Georgia’s local education agencies (LEAs) are staffed by principals, administrators, teachers, support staff, students and families, and efforts should be made to lift those voices to shape the inclusive leadership conversation in Georgia and promote the district’s student-centered priorities and best practices.
MISSION: Create an inclusive learning environment for each student through advancing inclusive leadership.

Ensure each student excels and feels safe, supported, and valued in school. High expectations have been established and provide appropriate supports for all students. These expectations play an essential role in improving instruction, promoting collaboration between general and special education teachers and retaining effective teachers.

GOALS:

- Improve equitable access and opportunity for students to increase graduation rates and post-secondary outcomes.
- Ensure all students have access to high quality instruction, effective teachers, and rigorous coursework.
- Retain and recruit new teachers and encourage more people to choose education as a top choice.
- Raise expectations and strengthen supports for students with disabilities
- Create welcoming and culturally and linguistically environments for all students

STRATEGIES:

- Implement an integrated communications strategy that includes media relations, social media, internal communications, print publications, and digital communications to engage internal and external audiences
- Leverage the history and benefits of implementing Inclusive Leadership principles
- Form a cross-district communications collaborative that includes, GaDOE programs, district and school staff, regional support, higher education institutions, Collaboration for Effective Educator Development, Accountability and Reform (CEEDAR), community partners, and other education influencers
- Partner with families and communicate the benefits of Inclusive leadership; distribute informational materials and clearly define what the family’s role will be in implementing these principals.
- Leverage and align Inclusive Leadership with your school improvement plan
- Engage and inform stakeholders on multi platforms, regularly.
TARGET AUDIENCE: GaDOE staff, administrators, students, teachers, families, community leaders, and supporters including, higher education institutions, peer institutions, education influencers, and media in the region, nationally and internationally.
