

Locally Defined Courses

1. Locally Defined Courses can be created by the school and/or district's Student Information System (SIS) Coordinator and viewed within SLDS. Teachers and Advisors can then access all SLDS student data for any non-instructional student group. The most common usages of Locally Defined Course are a homeroom or advisement group. Teachers and Advisors will be better informed about the educational background of students they are teaching or advising.

2. Locally Defined Courses will be displayed beginning with 00. as the whole digits for the course numbers. Locally Defined Courses have no impact on funding or data reporting for your school district.
